

A large, blank white rectangular area in the center of the page, designed for writing. The area is bounded by thin black lines on all four sides, creating a clean space for text or drawings.